

Frontend Help Wanted

We, Demos Berlin e.V., are an independent, non-profit organisation with the goal to enhance democracy, by making civil society more accessible. For that we are building a user-generated platform / tool for actors and their actions - Demos.

Our organisation today is a small group of people, spread across 7 countries. Our technical experts / developers are all based in Berlin. After positive feedback for our MVP, we are now building a robust first version (Mobile / App + Desktop) of Demos. The project will be open-source once the first version is released.

We need:

- Frontend developer (Web + iOS + Android)

We have:

- Working and documented REST API
- Full design layout mobile & desktop (Figma + Design Book)

Your profile:

- Robust Frontend experience (Vue preferred)
- Git experience / understanding (Demos is on GitLab)

We estimate ca. 30 - 50 hours of work for this task, for an experienced developer.

This role / task will not be paid. None of us have received / taken any money for our work. To ensure the integrity of this project, we will solely be financed through donations, which will open upon release. By nature, there will be various relevant tasks going forward. However, if your motivation is monetary, this is not the right project for you.

We strongly believe in the necessity and potential impact of this project.

If this sounds interesting to you, send a brief message with some relevant information to Otto at otto@demonstrations.org and we will be in contact.
